Oxford University Press, 2002. ISBN (v.1): 9780195151602 | PS3515.U274 Z698 2002

1987 Anisfield-Wolf Book Awards

Rampersad's highly-praised biography, now in its 2nd edition, covers the life of this most extraordinary and prolific American writer. In young adulthood Hughes possessed a nomadic but dedicated spirit that led him from Mexico to Africa and the Soviet Union to Japan, and countless other stops around the globe. Associating with political activists, patrons, and fellow artists, and drawing inspiration from both Walt Whitman and the vibrant Afro-American culture, Hughes soon became the most original and revered of black poets.

March. Book One (2013)

by John Lewis; [co-written by] Andrew Aydin; [art by] Nate Powell

Top Shelf Productions, [2013]. 121 pages | ISBN: 9781603093002 | E840.8.L43 A3 2013
2016 National Book Award Winner, Young People's Literature

In this superb graphic memoir, Congressman John Lewis, a resounding moral voice in the quest for equality for more than 50 years, now shares his riveting story of the Civil Rights Movement. It is a powerful tale of courage, principle, and perseverance igniting sweeping social change, told by a strong-minded, uniquely qualified eyewitness.

Men We Reaped: A Memoir (2013)

by Jesmyn Ward

Bloomsbury, 2013. 258 pages | ISBN: 9781608195213 | PS3623.A7323 Z46 2013

Jesmyn's memoir shines a light on the small town of DeLisle, Mississippi, a place of quiet beauty and fierce attachment. Here, she lost five young men dear to her, to drugs, accidents, murder, and suicide. Their deaths were seemingly unconnected, yet Jesmyn chronicles their true stories and a staggering truth: these young men died because of who they were and the place they were from, because certain disadvantages breed a certain kind of bad luck, because they lived with a history of racism and economic struggle.

A Raisin in the Sun (1959)

by Lorraine Hansberry

Vintage Books, 1994. 151 pages | ISBN: 9780679755333 | PS3515.A515 R3 1994

New York Drama Critics' Circle Best Play, 1959

The breadwinner for his family living in poverty on Chicago's south side, Walter Younger desperately wants to become wealthy. Within this context, Hansberry addresses issues that were new to open discussion at the time: concepts of black beauty, generational conflict, class differences, feminism and black Americans' relationship to their African past. It was the first play written by an African American to be produced on Broadway and Hansberry was the first black to win the coveted New York Drama Critics Circle Award for best play of the year.

To Sir with Love (1959)

by E. R. Braithwaite

Jove, 1977, c1959. 189 pages | ISBN: 9780515083729 | LA639.L8 B7 1977x

1961 Anisfield-Wolf Book Award

This autobiographical novel is set in the East End of London in 1959. A Black engineer, desperate for work after being demobilized from the RAF, accepts a teaching post in this tough corner of the city. His pupils are unresponsive to his efforts, unmotivated, semi-literate, and semi-articulate. He decides to take a radical new approach: he shames them into showing more respect for each other, wrestles with them, enlightens them, and - ultimately - learns to love them.
