

FULLCOVERAGEWRITERS

Full Coverage Worksheets

Occupational Hazards

A lot can be learned about a character by knowing what their profession is. What work do they enjoy doing? What work are they actually doing? What work would they like to be doing? Which job fits which profession is entirely up to you and your character. A well-rounded character is more than just one job, one passion. They're multi-faceted and complicated.

Below are 100 potential occupations for your character. Check four of them. Your selections will be your character's chosen, desired, and most dreaded professions, as well as his or her guilty pleasure / hobby.

Current Profession: _____

Desired Profession: _____

Dreaded Profession: _____

Guilty Pleasure: _____

Actor

Business Person

Musician

Captain

Journalist

Rock Star

Bookseller

Conductor

Baby Sitter

Construction Worker

Patient

Etymologist

Ninja

Sailor

Con-Man

Blacksmith

Clerk

Doctor

Secret Agent

Farmer

Dungeon Master

Taxi Driver

Sports Commentator

Mason

Shaman

Geek

Tour Guide

Prostitute

Engineer

Thief

IRS Agent

Protestor

Shop Keeper

Housecleaner

Writer

Pimp

FBI Agent

Waiter

Athlete

Contractor

Spy

Hunter

Photographer

Astronaut

Teacher

Advisor

Self-Help Guru

Henchman

Gambler

Librarian

Tourist

President

Homeless

Bodyguard

Police Officer

Shepherd

Truck Driver

Nurse

Serial Killer

Time Traveller

Immigrant

Computer Technician

Fireman

Mad Scientist

Wizard

Professor

Politician

Fishmonger

Lawyer

Ex-Con

Traveling Salesman

Pastry Chef

Alcoholic

Software Designer

Soldier

Midwife

Mail Carrier

Fisherman

Psychiatrist

Baker

Architect

Starving Artist

Receptionist

Seamstress

Nun

Imaginary Friend

Oil Tycoon

Ghost Hunter

Bartender

Wood Carver

Navy Seal

Landscaper

Pastor

Monk

Emperor

Artist

Tinkerer

Assassin

Hero / Heroine

Sculptor